Pemberton Community News

“It’s good news week, Someone’s dropped a bomb somewhere, contaminating atmosphere and blackening the sky”. If any of you are old enough to remember the lyrics from this 1965 song from Hedgehoppers Anonymous (I know, the name right, but there is significance there too), you will remember that it was a protest song. Most of the band members who were RAF pilots (the name referring to the slang term used for the Vulcan bomber that used to fly low to avoid radar detection) were all marched into the Commanding Officer and told they he was not impressed. Well not much has changed since it became a “one hit wonder” all those years ago, and sometimes I would like to make a protest somehow. Not sure what my method would be, but there are so many things happening that I either don’t agree with, sometimes think are just plain dumb, things that could be handled better, any number of things and I wonder how I could make a difference, and even if I could protest or mention the things I would like to see change, would it mean anything to anyone else. Well I guess that all depends on the protest doesn’t it?

While we work out our lives in our “Western Australian Bubble”, and nobody will tell me we are not living in a bubble, I hope we keep informed and up to date with what is happening elsewhere in our beautiful world. If I had my way, I would take every child suffering anywhere in the world through poverty, abuse or sickness home and look after them. I would love to be able to feed all the people in the world who don’t have enough to get through a day, or have a place to sleep. The things I would do if I have the means to make a difference.

And yet, here we are in our part of the world with so many of you out there making a difference each day. We have seen it through the weird months of this year. It’s great to see how many of you are involved in local groups, committees, brigades, churches and any number of sporting teams, some of you doing multiple tasks to keep things running, operating and functional. All heavy stuff in such a small community.

The CRC will continue with Bread Box Thursdays as long as it can, the Pemberton Community Exchange really needs the Community’s help (it’s looking bleak). If you have anything to spare and share, your contributions are always welcome. You would be surprised how often the Exchange is used. Emergency Relief Assistance is still available from the Manjimup Shire, and if you need help in that area, the CRC is there for you.

The Pemberton Community Newspaper would like to feature more articles about our place, our region, our area and our people. If you have ideas, please come in and talk to us. If you have a story to tell, send it in. If you have an opinion, feel free to express it in your local newspaper. We would love to see articles stories, ideas, cartoons etc., from the kids in our community. The PCN has a place in the community—your place, and your story.

If you haven’t registered for any of the WOW Pemberton 2020 events, now is the time to do it.

So it’s good news week, and while someone might have dropped a bomb somewhere, contaminating atmosphere and blackening the sky, we will enjoy another month here in Pemberton and surrounds, full of gratitude that however it happened, we are here in our bubble—NOW.

WOW PEMBERTON 2020

Time is running out for ticket sales to our 2020 event. There are still places available, but you will need to register—like now—to ensure your place and for catering purposes. We are so thrilled to have these presenters coming all this way for us, and it would be a real shame for you to miss out as they won't be back this way again for a long while. This is Tenina Holder's first foray out of Perth since lockdown, so make the most of having her here with us in Pemberton.

END OF OUR FINANCIAL YEAR

What an interesting last 6 months to our financial year! You would imagine that things have been difficult, and yes, getting the work done while still being 'sort of' closed for a large portion of the time was, but your little Community Resource Centre has made incredible strides this financial year after two extremely turbulent ones. We have managed to pull ourselves out of the mire and make improvements to our bottom line, and doing it all with no extra staff. Bringing the PCN back home was a sensible thing to do and we trust you have been happy with the results over the past 12 months or so. We do our best to accommodate everyone and look forward to continuing to advertise your businesses, clubs and organisations. Receiving the Lotterywest funding to supply free advertising for all those months was a great opportunity for many of you.

The Business Services contracts that we look after, again with no extra staff, just faster running, are also working well for the Pemberton CRC. It is amazing how much work goes through our office each day while we continue to support local businesses.

Our trainee Celeste', has been busy down at the front counter of the Pemberton Visitor Centre while she undertakes a Certificate III in Tourism. What a year to be studying tourism! Celeste' has taken everything in her stride and is a natural with customers and processes. Her TAFE supervisor tells us she is progressing well with her studies and assignments.

And of course, nothing happens here without Pei-Chen's efforts. You all know how fast she runs, and she picks me up and supports me in making decisions on behalf of our community. We would be lost without her.

Thank you to all our committee members and those of you who support us with your business and advertising. We can report that the audit is complete and we will be holding our AGM on the 26th November (see the ad on page 26). Now is your opportunity to get involved in a CRC that is working hard for you.

Our last market day at the Pemberton Community Market saw new stall holders join with us, which was very pleasing. We will be holding our next market day 9th January 2021 as there is so much happening in November and December. We look forward to seeing you there when we will have (hopefully) our new entrance erected for the market and garden while still retaining the original garden entrance and signage.

Got something to sell—Get involved—it's your garden!

There are numerous visitors out and about in the Southern Forests region and many exciting things happening.

1. Pemberton Pool: The Pemberton Pool has had its annual clean admirably managed by Colin Britza and the Pemberton FESA crew. The area has been scrubbed clean in ready for the warmer weather. Bring your picnic and bathers, go for a walk or mountain bike ride in the Forest Park.
2. Pemberton Visitor Centre: Our staff Kelly, Rebekah, Pei Chin, Deb and Celeste have been remarkably busy over the school holiday period providing visitor information, booking tours and accommodation to the many people in town. The number of people in the Southern Forests is still high and is a positive aspect of COVID-19 effect on business.
3. Pemberton Trail Town Project: A community meeting was conducted on 26.10.2020 to garner input for the Pemberton Trails Town Master Plan from the Pemberton Project Steering Group and community members. This will better inform Common Ground who are writing the plan, due in December 2020.
4. Pemberton Caravan Park: The park has been full over the school holidays with families in tents, caravans and campervans enjoying the town and region. The grey nomads are heading south and are exploring the southern reaches of our state with lots stopping in Pemberton. Planning is underway for the next stage of redevelopment of the Park, including implementing elements of the Master Plan and capital works,
5. Social Media Workshop: The social media workshop has been rescheduled for Tuesday 3rd November 2020 1:00 – 4:00 pm at the Pemberton Sports Club Jarrah Room. RSVP for members pemadmin@westnet.com.au
6. Gravity Enduro WAGE Mountain Bike Event: Some 400 riders, approximately 800 people will be in town for the Gravity Enduro 7 & 8 November 2020 event at the Pemberton Mountain Bike Park, the last event for the COVID-19 season. Practice on Saturday, racing on Sunday.
7. Hidden River Open: Hidden River's major restaurant and winery renovations have been completed and they are open for business.
8. Pemberton Pool Kiosk: Expressions of Interest have been requested to operate the Pemberton Pool Kiosk to add vibrancy to the Pemberton Forest Park. Interested pemadmin@westnet.com.au Notice in Pemberton People / Facebook.
9. Spring in the Air: With the warmer weather only now arriving, the wildflowers are stunning in the Karri forest. There are lots of Bibbulmun Track walkers and Munda Biddi mountain bikers out on the trail making the most of the gorgeous weather and colourful wildflower display.
10. Photographic Convention: With over 100 photographers down for the 2020 Southern Forests PhotoWest convention, a four-day program which offered a taste of the best of the region's photographic experiences, including sunrises and sunsets in iconic locations, Pemberton's heritage sites, birdlife and wildflowers how good were the shots posted online.
11. Avocado Season: Smashed avocado on toast, in your salad, lots of good food options. Buy them at the markets, roadside stalls or from the local supermarkets.

November Newsletter

Our WA Heritage listed pioneer pool is having its annual maintenance overseen by Colin Britza and with the magnificent help from the Pemberton Voluntary Fire Brigade.

We are looking for information and any connected items relating to our Hop growing history. This early WA industry is unique to Pemberton and we would love to have more information in our museum collection.

Our old school is possibly eligible to be included in the WA Heritage listed "Pemberton Timber Mill Workers' Cottages Precinct" (28/11/2003). This would help in the preservation of the school. Assistance with the application would be greatly appreciated.

Heritage Plaques Program. Nominations are being accepted by the Heritage Council for a descriptive plaque to be made and installed at one of our listed sites. Which one would you choose for this year? Pemberton Mill Hall, Pemberton Pool or Pemberton Timber Mill Workers' Cottages Precinct?

Museum Collections WA workshop is coming up in Manjimup on 26th and 27th November. Pemberton have been invited by Collections WA to have some items included in a new WA Museums portal website. So we are looking for items that are particularly unique to Pemberton and with a good story connected to them.

Pemberton Heritage and History Group will hold it's AGM on 29th November at 5pm. It will be held at Charlie's in the Pemberton Hotel. All present office bearers and committee will stand down for the new election. Past members may pay this year's membership subscriptions on the day. New members are most welcome and may join as well but will not be eligible to vote on the same day. We would love to see our past members back and to have new members join. Looking forward to seeing you on the 29th.

PAG NEWS:

17th Annual Spring Exhibition:

With 21 sales and almost 800 people through the doors during the exhibition, it was a great success. There were many positive comments from visiting artists who were amazed at the professional look of the exhibition and the quality of the works. No doubt we will have even more entries in our future exhibitions!

Thanks to all of our sponsors. You are very much appreciated by exhibiting artists who receive acknowledgement due to your generosity. Thanks also to those who made the effort to pop in to the Sports Club to view the exhibition for themselves and special thanks to ALL who purchased an art work. Believe me, artists are doing it tough – rarely covering their true costs (including time) and often competing with cheap ‘art’ on mass-produced canvases sold in chain stores.

It was especially great to see the intricately detailed painting of Ned Kelly (“Behind The Mask” by Dylan Nietrzeba) go to the home of Officer In Charge at Pemberton Police Station – Gavin Bark. Gavin appears to have a very discerning eye for quality art and I do congratulate him on purchasing this work which took Dylan months to complete!

People’s Choice was a well-deserved win for Ann Rice for her painting “Abalone Shell”. You can check it out on our website.

To see all award winners, refer to our website: www.pembertonartsgroup.org.au

Our committee is a very special group of people who all support each other and get the many and varied tasks done collaboratively with great respect for each other’s skills and strengths. At our next AGM on December 13th (2.30pm, Charlies), all committee positions will be vacated and nominations will be invited. We would love you to come along, join the team or just see how we operate.

Christmas: Support an artist and buy an original art work for someone special for Christmas .

New works: (still life & landscapes) can be viewed at LJ Hooker Pemberton. Local art & crafts at The Millhouse Collective.

Art Sessions: Wednesdays 9.30 am – 12.30 pm except school holidays. Bring your own project or try something new.

Terry Redman MLA

Member for Warren-Blackwood

Working with regional communities to create a better future for families, businesses and towns.

State Budget does little for the South West

Our regional communities continue to be short-changed by a Labor Government obsessed with Perth projects worth billions of dollars. The State Budget shows that over the next four years, more than 60 percent of funding will be siphoned from Royalties for Regions. This means projects like hospital upgrades, sport facilities and school extensions remain unfunded. Instead of Royalties for Regions being used to help the region rebound from COVID-19, it is being used to pay for projects that should be funded through consolidated revenue.

Nationals WA State Conference

The Nationals WA held their State Conference in Albany on 17 October. Almost 200 people travelled to Albany, many travelling via the South West, boosting tourism outside of the school holidays. Motions submitted by local branches across regional WA were debated. These form the basis of our policies-<https://www.nationalswa.com/our-policies/>.

We discussed regional doctor shortages, the Patient Assisted Travel Scheme, mental health services, mobile phone network standards, the effects of climate change and the need to safeguard water supply.

DFES Code of Conduct

Minister Logan's response to my Parliamentary Question shows less than 1 in 5 volunteers completed the 'mandatory' Code of Conduct training by the due date. The Minister should understand this is a strong message that volunteers do not agree with all the clauses in the document. It is time volunteers are respected and trusted and the 'gag' order on them speaking to their Member of Parliament is removed.

Battery Storage for distributed power

Increased numbers of rooftop solar panels is causing technical issues in the electricity distribution network, with weak spots causing significant reliability issues. Grid scale batteries are now able to solve many of these issues. Despite the ten worst locations for reliability being located in regional WA, Western Power has chosen to directly invest into ten sites, eight of which are in Metropolitan Perth. This is simply not fair!

Pemberton Camp School Update

Fairbridge Camp School

Term 4 is proving busy for us at Fairbridge. Between the usual seasonal peak and the camps rescheduled from lockdown we have lots of schools passing through our doors right now.

Pictured: Kalannie Primary School years 4,5 & 6 students having a blast mountain biking and putting their problem-solving skills to the test in the pirate quest activity at Big Brook Dam. These are two of our most popular activities & we have been running them almost every week.

During the school holidays I also had the privilege of facilitating a proof of concept small group of concept version of our new Karri to the Coast Trek for a small group of our junior instructors. Available from 2021, this 5-day expedition program suits groups from year 9 to adult. Participants travel using only human power, hiking and canoeing, from the Pemberton Camp School to the mouth of the Donnelly River. They will witness the environment change around them, from the tall Karri forest to coastal heath, as they face an increasing level of daily challenge and learn to work together as a small community.

PEMBERTON POOL ANNUAL CLEAN UP

Colin Britza organises each year for the Pemberton Volunteer Fire brigade to help with our pool clean up having drained the pool over the past week.

The brigade spent their day hosing down the old cement surround to the pool and surfaces.

Locals were invited to come down and many took the opportunity.

Jim Craigie and his team cooked up a BBQ and provided a welcomed lunch break for the volunteer's hard hot work. It was also an opportunity to have a social chat at the beginning of our fire season.

The Pemberton Visitor Centre is most grateful to have this community input into helping maintain our local pool.

Monthly prayer

Dear Lord and Heavenly Father,

As the world reels under the impacts of the effects of the coronavirus with numbers that stun us almost every day, we realise that beneath all of the statistics are individuals who suffer its ravages on their bodies with many even dying. They are people just like us who would love to continue living their lives as they did before but may not even have the chance to do so.

Many in other countries do not the medical facilities available to us and have to take their chances as to whether they can fight off the complaint or succumb to its effects. We pray for them and the frightening experiences they may have to pass through.

In our State where we are relatively free from the virus, forgive us if we go about our lives with scant regard for the misery of others. We stop at this moment to pray for them and ask that You, the Mighty God, bring this pandemic to an end and give back to the world the health and strength we love to enjoy.

Father, You are the One who knows all about what is going on in the world You created. By allowing all this to happen, You have awakened us to our mortality and helped us to realise our complete dependency upon You. Lord have mercy upon us, we pray. In Jesus' precious name we pray, Amen

Hi everyone,

Here we are in November already! It's an exciting time in the trail space for Pemberton, with plenty of events happening and action in the pipeline.

We celebrated WA Bike Month on October 17 with our 'Super Social Saturday' at the Pemberton MTB Park, made possible by the support from Westcycle and Department of Transport.

The morning started with some maintenance on the trails, where teams of volunteers tackled different aspects of the job. Longshanks received a stunning facelift with a blow, trim and clear, while Nearly Gnarly was rediscovered beneath its lush overgrowth. A huge thank you to all our helpers – we couldn't have done it without you!

We regrouped for morning tea and the part we know best - socialising! Our resident bike mechanic was onsite helping fix minor issues and make sure bikes were running smoothly. With several new riders joining us, we then hit the trails and reaped the rewards of our trail work. It was a fantastic morning and great celebration of riding.

October also saw the Pemby Trail Fest take place, which included a cross-country MTB event through the Gloucester National Park and surrounding forest. A few of our members took part as competitors and trail sweeps and had a great time.

The excitement continues this month, starting with a bang on the first weekend. The Tour of Margaret River on Nov 6-8 will bring road bikers on a 3 day race through the forests and farmlands between Nannup, Manjimup and Balingup. Keep an eye out for these impressive athletes as they navigate roads between the towns, including Channybearup with the French's Orchard a key staging point.

The WA Gravity Enduro (WAGE) Round 7 is also happening at Pemberton MTB Park on Nov 8, a popular mountain bike racing event that attracts riders from all over the state. Being the final round in the series and a WA State Championship, it is bound to be a thrilling event to participate in or watch!

Until next month, keep those wheels spinning and smiles grinning!

History Corner - Bill Bryant

This month I continue with an excerpt from Group Settlement, Part 2, Its people: their life and times—an inside view by J P Gabbedy 1988. This excerpt is from Pages 7 and 8, Chapter 1, The

A 'fair days pay' for a 'fair days work'??

.....Migrant pressure was mounting; Denmark and Peel Estate areas could no longer be counted on. Northcliffe was the only outlet—of the fifty-seven groups established after 2 January 1924, Northcliffe and its environs were to provide thirty-two.

.....the Roads and Bridges Branch of the Public Works Department, the precursors of the Main Roads Department, moved into the area. Their horse camp was set up on the eastern side of the main road, where today Pemberton Road meets Zamia Street; the intersection of Pemberton and Richardson Roads extending westwards was then known as Windy Corner. A good well was sunk 140 m north of the intersection and serviced by a petrol-driven pump and overhead tank. The site is partly identified in Lot 97, Reserve 19544.

Once the thirty-two townsite blocks and service roads had been identified, the scrub was flattened with a huge karri log, hauled by a team of horses, and then fired. The earliest photographs taken of the town area show that with another dragging of the logs, the area was reasonably levelled and cleared of debris making building possible and at the same time creating an excellent fire-break. The site of the Group Settlement shed was included in the clearing operations.

At that time all road-making material was transported by horse-drawn tip-draw which was filled by picks and shovels, sweat and blisters. The gravel was spread and consolidated by horse-drawn graders and rollers. When during the 1920s horses were gradually replaced by mechanised equipment, most of those from this camp, invariably splendid draught animals, were made available to individual groupies.

John W (Yorkie) Dobson, a twenty-year-old migrant, became wearied of chopping salmon gum in the Karlgarin area at 12s 6d per acre and barely making tucker. He arrived in Perth in late November 1923, and at the Labour Bureau the following morning, saw an advertisement seeking "10 horse drivers and 200 navvies" for road work in the Northcliffe district.

Anything was better than "swinging a Kelly", so next morning Yorkie was on the train for Pemberton, the cost of his ticket to be deducted from his first pay. His cash money extended only to the purchase of two bush rugs, two tins of camp pie, and three loaves of bread, bought at Pemberton before he boarded the truck for Northcliffe. This had to last him till payday. Try as he might, he could not stomach the possum stews generously offered him by his mates.

Tents were issued at 2s per week; the rent did not alter if arrangements were made to share. Gangs of up to ten men were established 1.6 km intervals. It was rush from morning to night, working over Christmas and New Year to be as nearly as possible ready for the first settlers. Apart from the Sunday "rest and washing" day, nobody ever thought of taking a day off—there was nowhere to go. The men either cooked for themselves or joined in with one or two more. In such atmosphere Yorkie celebrated his twenty-first birthday.

To the batching man, nothing is more tiring and dispiriting than to come home wet and weary and then have to prepare a hot meal. Yorkie's group was lucky to have as a member of the gang one who could cook and who liked cooking. They arranged to pay him to buy their food in from Pemberton and cook it for them, and even today Yorkie's eyes light up at the memory of the meals served up by their alfresco chef.

Camps were of a temporary nature. As one section of a road was completed, it was a matter of up camp and move to the next site, the only qualification being a minimum of time lost in walking to and from the job. The only permanent camp was at the horse depot, where there was a galvanized cook-house and waterproof mess hall.

There were two separate road gangs, one centred on Northcliffe, the other working its way southward from the Warren Bridge. Brothers Jack and Ron Littlefair, both English migrants, were members of the second gang. Jack told me:

We had been working since early December and we'd progressed over the karri hill—now the Brockman National Park. All were about a half mile out on the flat sandy plain country when one lunch time we were amazed to see a truck loaded with people—men, women and kids—go past us. They were whooping, cheering and waving to us. We waved back and then asked who the hell they were.

They reckoned they were the first settlers for the new area were building the road for. They had nine miles (14.4 km) of bloody rough track to go over; and a local in our gang said he didn't think their huts had even been built. "There won't be any cheering tonight or tomorrow!", he said.

The day was Thursday, 3 January, and the cheering settlers were heading for Group 94.

Going it Alone

It was Autumn. A mild, pleasant day for an outing. Mum had lots of chores to do and Dad was in the work shed as usual. Freddy was with friends down the road and Georgie was reading her favourite fashion magazines. I had not been out on my very own and decided that my fourteen year experiences should be more adventurous.

Mum was not too concerned that I wanted to go out on my own, but Granny was cautious and gave her opinion. "She cannot go out on her own at fourteen. Times have changed! And where to, may I ask?" Granny questioned sternly.

A 'cowboy and crooks' film was to be shown at the bioscope, the Athlone Theatre. The children in my class were talking about it on Friday afternoon.

"I'll meet up with my classmates," I reassured the adults.

"Oh, all right then," agreed Mum and gave me five shillings. "That's more than enough for bus fare, a snack, and your ticket to see the film".

"Gee, thanks Mum!" I replied gleefully and I was ready to leave on my solo outing within minutes.

I took the same route to school every week day, so this was nothing new. A 5-minute walk to the bus terminus in Mowbray, and board any bus passing through Athlone—a straight forward journey. After a leisurely walk I was just in time to board a Golden Arrow bus about to depart. The short bus trip ended before I could observe the passengers, mostly adults (which I loved to do) unlike on week days when there were mostly school children commuting.

On arrival at the Athlone Theatre I was met by a long line of movie-goers. I looked out for friends but saw no familiar faces. I struck up a conversation with the girl in front of me. She said the film had been changed to one about travelling in the Sahara Desert. I was disappointed—little wonder my school mates were not around.

Anyway, I was almost at the booking office window when an usher placed a little white note with black letters saying 'FULL'. I blinked and re-read 'FULL'. This meant a two hour wait for the next show, or to go back home. Where would I wait? I knew my classmate, Helena, stayed around the corner, I could visit her! Then there was the playpark opposite the theatre. No, I wasn't going to watch noisy children so I took the opportunity to visit Helena. Mrs Gaffley, Helena's mother, was as usual happy to see me.

"Do come inside," she said cheerfully. "Did Helena know you were coming around?"

"No," I said weakly, realising my friend was not at home.

"She's gone off to the country to see family this weekend," Mrs Gaffley explained. "How unfortunate, she would have enjoyed your company." This did not hide my disappointment. "Stay and have afternoon tea with me," she offered. "If you leave at 3.30 you'll be in time for your 4.00pm show." It sounded like a good proposal, so I had tea and scones and chatted about our school escapades. Mrs Gaffley was a jovial lady and laughed heartily at the stories I shared.

By the time I was ready to leave I felt entertained and thought of heading home. Just as I passed the theatre I spotted Sylvia, another school friend. She was a year or two older than me and very confident. "Come and join me then we can sit together," she suggested.

In a way I felt relieved to have familiar peer group company. The film was quite interesting but somehow I felt an uneasiness. By interval it was already 5.00pm on my luminous hands watch. "It's a long film," I casually remarked.

"Oh, later shows are not as short as matinees", Sylvia said all knowingly. Her parents, unlike mine, did not have such strict house rules.

After Interval I could no longer concentrate. The screen was just a blur. I visualised the scene by the time I got home. Freddy often got into hot water when coming home late. My afternoon was spoilt! The packet of potato chips lay untouched and unopened in my lap. By the time we got outside the sun had already set. Queues at the bus stop were long. Sylvia just waved goodbye and was off like a lot. She was a good athlete and within moments she must have reached her home just across the railway line.

I boarded a bus at 6.35 and before 7.00 I was back at Mowbray Terminus. I was extremely anxious. The last time I felt like this was when I had to see the dentist! I just knew I was in for trouble. I walked that familiar street up towards the main road. Pedestrians were window shopping, peering through lit-up shop fronts.

In the distance I saw a figure approaching—a hurried gait and as it neared, a familiar silhouette—the heels click clicking nearer. The figure stopped right in front of me!

"Why are you so late?" came Mum's agitated voice.

I tried to explain as best as I could but the words tumbled out incoherently and Mum was not even responding. Eventually she said Granny insisted she came out to look for me. It was out of concern for my safety. At home I explained and apologised for my bad decision and accepted the consequence—a good telling off.

Dad came onto the scene. "Well, you are home and safe and that's what matters most! Now come here and tell me about the film." I couldn't tell much. My concentration was disturbed by anxiety. I did remember the scene of a man thirsting for a drink of water in the desert. My mouth was parched too and I was hot as well after so much interrogation. I got up slowly and drank some water. Mum served dinner and the episode faded into the background.

What a teenage experience of 'going it alone' I certainly learned a good lesson from the experience!

SAINT JOSEPH'S SCHOOL NEWS

Inquisitive & Inspiring Incursions @ St. Joe's

Recently, the students at St. Joseph's enjoyed two exceptionally fun and educational incursions from Scitech and Kaboom Percussion.

School incursions are a valuable extra-curricular resource that reinforce, complement and extend learning opportunities beyond the classroom. They allow students to gain valuable and relevant learning and develop an appreciation for culture through sport, arts or science experiences.

Scitech always presents a fun and lively show that captivates the students' attention from start to finish. This year the classes were presented with an entertaining and interactive show demonstrating, for the younger students, force and friction using everyday objects of which many can be found in their toy boxes and properties of light and gravitational pull for the older classes. Students then investigated these concepts for themselves in small groups prompting much predicting, questioning, experimenting and communicating – Science at its best!

Our music incursion, hosted by PDHS, certainly began with a boom from the very beginning. Josh and Cat, young, professional percussionists and founders of Kaboom, presented an energetic, dynamic and inspirational performance showcasing their percussion skills and talent on a variety of interesting home-made instruments. They played movie themes on a musical contraption made from plastic bottles and lightning fast rhythms on bucket drums and a curious poly-pipe creation. The students were thoroughly captivated and engaged throughout the whole show!

Please see the guide noted below for further detail:

Above: Minimum dimensions required for a fire-break and turning area to ensure safe access for firefighting vehicles.

Shire President's Message

Events

The recent Djuki Mala event hosted by the Shire was a great success, as were other recent events co-hosted by the Shire such as the #So_My_Fest annual youth festival, and the Taste of our Community Expo which coincided with Mental Health Week. Well done to the organisers who put so much time and effort into bringing these events to our community.

Grower and Worker Connection

We recently collaborated with the Manjimup CRC Southern Forest Employment Hub to facilitate the creation of a simplified linkage between local growers and workers looking to assist with making up the expected agricultural employment shortfall across the district. Growers and prospective workers are encouraged to register their interest at the Manjimup Community Resource Centre.

Fire Season

The fire season is approaching and residents should be aware that preparing for fire season isn't just for rural landholders. While rural landholders do have more responsibility with the need to provide firebreaks and fuel hazard reduction, it is just as important that residential and business properties are also ready for fire season. The 2020/2021 Firebreak and Fuel Hazard Reduction Notice has been mailed to all landholders and outlines the requirements for all land categories, a copy can be downloaded from the Shire website. The requirements outlined in the notice need to be in place by 11 December in Zone 8 and 18 December in Zone 6, the penalty for non-compliance is significant at $5000. It's also a good time to review your fire plan and check the supplies and batteries in your emergency kit and remember not rely on NBN communication or scheme water during a bushfire.

New Health Local Laws

A new Shire of Manjimup Health Local Law was gazetted on 8 October 2020. The purpose of the local law is to enable authorised Shire officers to provide for the adequate regulation of public health throughout the Shire. The law includes regulation of food and accommodation premises, caravan parks, noise and nuisances, pests and diseases, onsite waste water disposal, events, public buildings, and more, you can view the local law on the Shire website.

COVID Relief Fund

Whilst the Shire is no longer facilitating the fund, there are still funds available, if you find yourself or someone you know in need of support please see the Community Support Directory included with this issue of the Pemberton Community News for information. The relief fund has been made possible through the support of Lotterywest and the hard work of the Shire's COVID Recovery Team, the Shire of Manjimup has attained $428,364 to assist people living in the Shire to alleviate any hardship that is being felt due to COVID-19.
